Q: How to use a parameter from a method in another method as part of a query Here is the code I have so far: public static List> GetStores(int StoreAreaId, int StoreId, int StoreRegionId) { int srid = StoreRegionId + (int)TimeSpan.FromMinutes(3).Days + (int)TimeSpan.FromMinutes(1).Hours; var list = (from t in _db.Aspnet_Stores join s in _db.Aspnet_StoreAreas on t.StoreAreaId equals s.StoreAreaId join r in _db.Aspnet_StoreRegions on s.StoreRegionId equals r.StoreRegionId where t.BusinessUnitId == StoreAreaId && s.LocationName == "The Netherlands" && r.RegionId == srid select new List()).ToList(); return list; } As you can see the srid variable is used as part of the r.RegionId in the second where statement. The issue I have is that the srid needs to be added as a parameter to the GetStores method. How do I achieve this? A: Put srid in your method signature: public static List> GetStores(int StoreAreaId, int StoreId, int StoreRegionId, int srid) { And pass it as the second argument: var list = (from t in _db.Aspnet_Stores

Determination of biogenic amines in seafood by ultra-performance liquid chromatography/tandem mass spectrometry. In this study, ultra-performance liquid chromatography coupled with tandem mass spectrometry (UPLC-MS/MS) was developed and validated for the determination of 14 biogenic amines in food samples, including 15 individual samples, three kinds of seafood and two kinds of high-energy processed products. Sample preparation was based on a multi-step method, including protein precipitation with acetonitrile and purification using mixed-mode weak anion exchange/strong cation exchange ultra-performance liquid chromatography columns, followed by detection using MS/MS. The LC separation was performed using a C18 column, with the mobile phase composed of water (containing 1.2% formic acid) and acetonitrile with 0.1% formic acid. The analytes were detected using multiple reaction monitoring in the electrospray positive ionization mode. The method exhibited good precision and accuracy for all the analytes, with the relative standard deviations of the intraday and inter-day assay under 1.0-8.5% and 1.6-10.1%, respectively. Recovery experiments ranged from 77.5 to 108.0% for the different concentrations. The LOQs were in the range of 0.06-0.67 μg kg-1 for raw samples and 0.05-0.68 μg kg-1 for processed food samples, which were sufficient to detect the presence of target analytes in the samples. This method was successfully applied to the quantitative analysis of biogenic amines in 15 different raw seafood and food products, as well as two simulated digestive juices, and by-products and residues.
