

while reinforced concrete design is a better way to build one's home, it is not always what one needs. sometimes it is cheaper to build a new home. this chapter provides the information on how to build a new home. if you want more information on reinforced concrete design, i suggest you refer to the book reinforced concrete design by oyenuga rar. in order to build a new home, one requires concrete, reinforced concrete design tools, rebar, formwork, and construction tools. this section provides details on the recommended materials for building a new home. the oyenuga rar doctrine is the way to design structures that can be used for buildings, bridges, vehicle ramps, piers, and other infrastructures. the inspiration comes from the uniquely strong behavior of marine animals such as whale, shark and abalones. in addition to these, oyenuga rar has applied to the design of reinforced concrete pillars that can serve as a foundation of bridges that span more than one hundred kilometers. the pillars can be constructed by simple block masonry, or by reinforced concrete masonry. figure 2 shows the reinforced concrete pillar as a foundation of the bridge at iguazu falls. the pillar serves as the foundation of the bridge. its external shape determines the stiffness and capacity of the foundation. the pillar is also reinforced with concrete masonry blocks. reinforced concrete structures are being used more widely for a variety of civil engineering projects in nigeria. they have been approved by the ministry of works in nigeria for use in government projects.
