The makers of the CVCheat program say it does not only aim at a player's head, but can scan the entire enemy. It can even detect the presence of specific types of weapons, such as a flamethrower in BioShock Infinite. To use CVCheat, players are first asked to choose an aim bot and setup their friends list. They then choose an aim bot and target, and start playing. When a target is found, CVCheat will automatically detect a player by the camera and start shooting. This new CVCheat program offers bots that can see enemies in real time. Also, the bots can track, lock onto a target, and aim automatically. In addition to the possibilities the new CVCheat program brings, the makers of this program promise it will, ultimately, have no trouble aiming at enemies that are using sci-fi weapons such as firing pistols, rifles, machine guns, rocket launchers, and grenades.
